

CONTINUING EDUCATION

The School of Continuing Education was established in 2014 as the home of innovative education experiences and credentials that complement and enhance MacEwan's diploma and degree programming and pedagogy. The guiding principles of the School address academic excellence, innovation, partnerships and sustainability. The School has six units: Academic and Language Preparation, Professional and Continuing Studies, SCE International, Career Studies, Professional Health Education and the Conservatory of Music. The types of programs and services offered include: English as an additional language instruction; academic upgrading; certificate programs; general interest courses; professional development courses, workshops and seminars; customized training and partnerships with business, industry, health, and community-based organizations; international professional development programs and study tours and music lessons, workshops, concerts, festivals and events.

Dean

Lisa Rochman, PhD (Ben Gurion)

Associate Dean

Eaman Mah, MEd (Alberta)

Departments

- English as an Additional Language (<https://calendar.macewan.ca/faculties-university/continuing-education/english-additional-language/>)
- University Preparation (<https://calendar.macewan.ca/faculties-university/continuing-education/university-preparation/>)