Many children, youth, and their families experience trauma, often through abuse, neglect, or a significant loss. They may also have stressors such as mental health, education, poverty, communication, or family conflict. Child and youth care practitioners work relationally with individuals and families to help them gain new insights, supports, and strategies to navigate the complexities of their lives and an ever-changing world.

The child and youth care program provides students with the theoretical knowledge and practical skills necessary to work effectively with children, youth, and families in a wide range of practice settings. Specialized child and youth care courses and courses in related disciplines prepare students to become well-rounded child and youth care professionals.

In years one and two, foundational courses prepare students to form helping relationships with youth and families in entry-level positions. Years three and four prepare students for advanced practice with children, youth, and families with multiple, complex challenges. Practicum courses in years one, two, and four provide the opportunity to integrate coursework within direct practice settings.

Students may choose the diploma exit option at the end of year two.

The child and youth care program is accredited through the Child and Youth Care Educational Accreditation Board of Canada.

Career Potential

Knowledgeable, caring child and youth care graduates are in demand across Canada. Rewarding careers are available in child and youth, family support, out-of-school care, case work, mental health, addictions, etc., in a wide range of settings. Diploma exit students (after successful completion of year two) are prepared for entry-level, direct-practice positions. Degree graduates (after successful completion of year four) are prepared for positions as advanced child and youth care practitioners and/or for supervisory positions.

Bachelor of Child and Youth Care degree graduates from MacEwan University are eligible to apply to a wide array of graduate degrees, including child and youth care programs at the University of Victoria, Toronto Metropolitan University, and the University of Strathclyde.

Program Regulations

Academic Residency - Exemption

A student entering year three of the Bachelor of Child and Youth Care degree with a diploma from an external institution must complete at least 35 per cent of courses through MacEwan University for degree completion. Challenge examinations, transfer credit and other special assessments (for example, prior learning and recognition) are not included in the 35 per cent.

Elective Requirements

Elective requirements may be 100, 200, 300 or 400 level university courses.

English Requirement

The English course requirement may be a 100, 200, 300 or 400 level baccalaureate course from the Department of English.

Progression of Studies

Students are responsible for ensuring they meet the prerequisite requirements as noted on program courses.

Diploma Exit

Students are eligible for a diploma after the successful completion of Year 2 of the Bachelor of Child and Youth Care. Students who have obtained the diploma, or are eligible to do so, are not required to exit the degree program. However, any student who discontinues registration in degree courses for twelve months will be required to re-apply for admission.

Regulations Governing Practicum/Field Placement Courses

Students must achieve satisfactory performance in all fieldwork courses in accordance with the course criteria and outcomes. Community partners and MacEwan faculty work collaboratively to offer supervision and support of students and each practicum is accompanied by an integration seminar that provides opportunities to connect course learning and field experience. Students complete field placements during years one, two and four of the program. In year one, practicum courses emphasize self-awareness while learning about and integrating the foundations of child and youth care practice. In year two, practicum courses emphasize the importance of working relationally and creatively with people where they live their lives. Students are encouraged to integrate learning from the classroom, the practice setting and their own experiences. In fourth year, practicum courses are typically tailored to meet the individual student's learning needs and goals as well as emphasize critical and reflective integration of theory and practice, while also enhancing skills around intervention, leadership and advocacy.

Required practicum hours are outlined within student manuals and align with the standards of the Child and Youth Care Educational Accreditation Board of Canada. Across all levels of practicum, hours may include days and evenings. Students arrange their own transportation for required program activities and any costs incurred for meals, travel and accommodation are the student's responsibility. MacEwan University child and youth care students can only attend practicum at times and locations authorized by the program and/or the instructor for the course in which the student is currently enrolled.

Students must comply with the Work Integrated Learning policy regarding practicum as well as other applicable policies and regulations of the university and the host agency. Students must have completed all prerequisite courses as well as all program and agency pre-placement requirements prior to the start of any practicum course. In accordance with the Work Integrated Learning policy, the university reserves the right, at any point during the practicum course, to remove a student from the practicum for serious performance issues (i.e., engaging in behaviour that places the client(s) and/or others at risk or that is contrary to the professional or safety requirements of the placement). In such cases, the Chair, in consultation with the Dean, will assign a grade of F in the course. For further information, refer to the Work Integrated Learning Policy.

In accordance with the Academic Standing policy, the performance of a Student in a clinical, practicum, ensemble setting, or equivalent learning activity may be reviewed at any time. If the student's performance is inadequate relative to the standards required in the student's program, the student may be placed on probation or required to withdraw from the program. For further information, refer to the Academic Standing policy.

Police Information Check

Students must meet the specific Police Information Check (PIC) requirement as set out in the admission criteria for the duration of the program or they may be required to withdraw from the program. Students are responsible for obtaining a PIC at intervals specified by the practicum agencies or the program, and making these available, upon request, to their practicum agency representative. Any costs incurred are the responsibility of the student.

Students whose PIC status changes following program admission must self-report this change in status; this may compromise the student's ability to complete the program requirements as they may be denied a required practicum and, therefore, be unable to meet graduation requirements.

Intervention Record Check

Students may also be required to obtain an Intervention Record Check for some practicum courses. Any costs incurred are the responsibility of the student.

First Aid – Standard

Students may require Standard First Aid and CPR requirements for practicum courses. Any costs incurred are the responsibility of the student. Failure to meet the requirements for practicum courses may result in a student being denied an approved practicum and, therefore, be unable to meet graduation requirements.

Student Plan

Students must follow the Student Plan (listed below) to complete this credential in the year(s) indicated by the plan. Students must consult with a program Academic Advisor regarding any deviation from the Student Plan, as this may extend the time it takes to complete the program. The student plan may be subject to change.
