ARTS AND CULTURAL MANAGEMENT MINOR

The Arts and Cultural Management (AACM) minor offers students the opportunity to develop an awareness of the depth and breadth of the cultural sector and to begin to develop some of the managerial competencies necessary should they wish to pursue employment, volunteer or governance related opportunities in the field. The business and entrepreneurial skills learned in the Arts and Cultural Management courses are essential for anyone interested in the arts, heritage or creative industries. To meet the requirements for the minor, students will complete a variety of courses including subjects such as publicity, leadership, project management, cultural policy, museum/gallery management and independent study/study tours.

Note: This minor is available to students in all eligible programs
